

Plovdiv is the second-largest city in Bulgaria. It's much smaller than Sofia but still a pretty big city! Plovdiv has an area of 101.9 square kilometers (about 39.3 square miles) big, so it is smaller than Sofia, but it has a lot of cool places to see, like old Roman theaters and colorful houses. There are around 350,000 people living in Plovdiv. It's a very old city with a history that goes back over 6,000 years! People come to visit Plovdiv to see its ancient ruins and enjoy the fun festivals that happen every year.
